—A well-known military man of Memphis

—A well-known military man of Memphis has a number of grown-up visitors at his house, to whom he promised a Christmatree, thus throwing them into flutter of excitement. Yesterday he was busy at work collecting his material, which consisted of a scrub tree, to be loaded down with handsome potalors, match boxes and empty bottles, the whole to be lighted up with tallow candles. When the infuriated guests get hold of him the Chickasaw Guards had better look out for another Captain.

Dr. Rogers thanked the young gentlemen for their complimentary expression and for the beautiful sourceir accompanying them, the speeches of both gentlemen, the APPZAL regrets, being too lengthy for publication. The event is but another exemplification of the popularity this institution is rapidly winning through the efforts of the faculty, composed as it is of practitioners, each one holding positions in the first rank of their profession. The citizens of Memphis can look with pride upon this college, as it is of purely Memphis origin and is making rapid strides under the direction of home talent.

glad to see that these prominent merchants are to give consent to the use of their names for Police and Fire Commissioners; and, Messra. Editors, it must be gratifying to you also, for they are no politicians. Every intelligent citizen knows that these gentlemen are well-known merchants of the Chickesaw Bluffs. And, furthermore, it will sink the politicians' coalition ticket into obliviou for it will show to them that we have a true American, a true and upright Irishliviou for it will show to them that we have a true American, a true and upright Irishman, and a German that will bring a triumphant victory on the 5th of January next. And now, Mesars. Editors, I can say that Mr. Gavin will poll one of the largest votes that any citizen has done for a number of years. The Republican politicians know that the Irish citizens of Memphis take a pride in Mr. Gavin, for he is a true and honest Irishman, one who never forgot his own native Emerald Isle. And now, in conclusion, Messrs. "Cranky" Answers "Crank" tainly misapprehen s the situation of our city affairs. Concede that the Democrats o city affairs. Concede that the Democrats of Memphis have a voting majority, and that the Republicans, having a majority in other cities, invariably elect Republicans to fill their municipal offices, and yet "Crank's" suggestions are not adapted to the practical necessities of our city affairs. Because one man, for political reasons only, secures political employes to manage his business, is that any reason why another and more sensible man, under different circumstances, should do likewise? "But," says "Crank," "it is right, in every practical sense, that the political party which is in the ascendency in any locality should have the conduct of public affairs, and be held responsible for their faithful and honest administration." All of this is doubtless politically sugacious and soupd and yet, practically, fails to meet our present and peculiarly local necessities. BLUFF CITY CLOTHING HOUSE, 259 Main Christmas-Tide Celebration at the Christian Brothers' College.

On last Friday evening the students of the Christian Brothers' College entertained their friends with a series of interesting exercises, consisting of a debate, music and declamations. At the close of the celebration the students took the President of the College by surprise with a complimentary address, and requested him to accept a beautiful time-keeper as a mark of their affection and esteem. Brother Maurelian, the President, thanked them for their good wishes, as well as for their evidence of affection and esteem, encouraged them to continue in living up to the good instructions which they were daily receiving at college, and concluded by wishing all present a merry Christmas and many years of health and prosperity. How His Conscience was Quieted.

A citizen of the District entered a Main street establishment the other day, and said he wanted a private word with the proprietor. When they had retired to Mr. Coleman's desk he began:

"I want to make confession and reparation. Do you remember of my buying a box of your celebrated No. 10 cigars here two or three days ago?"

"I do," replied the ever-smiling Sol.

"Well, in paying for it, I worked off a counterfeit note on the clerk. It was a mean trick, and I came to tender you good money,"

"Oh, don't mention it," replied the cigarist.

"But I want to make it right."

"It's all right—all right. We knew who passed the bill on us, and that afternoon when your wife sent down a ten dollar bill and wanted another box of the same kind I gave her that bad dollar with her change. Don't let your conscience trouble you at all—it's all right." TUESDAY, DEC. 27th, AT 5 P.M. FOR CAIRO AND ST. LOUIS. 8. Mail-POR CAIRO AND ST. LOUIS Gold Dust,

The Ladies and the Matinee

The Ladies and the Matinee.

One of the customs of our city, and one which attracts the stranger, is the appearance of our Main street just after the matinee. Yesterday afternoon the crowd was considerably augmented by the Christmas shopperabut the costumes were in many cases most gorgeous, and gave the street the appearance of our carnival times. J. M. Hill & Co., at the corner of Main and Monroe streets, are in a great measure the cause of the elegant carriage of most of our ladies. Shoes purchased of this firm are slylish and neat, and just a little cheaper than elsewhere.
